ELLIS HENICAN, METRO COLUMNIST

Denouncing the white supremacists, neo-Nazis and KKKers in Charlottesville — that should have been the easy part. But now that he's stumbled so badly there, will the suddenly tongue-tied Donald Trump ever stop seeking alliances with race-baiting, alt-right extremists? Does he even want to? metro.us

FBI PROBE UNDERWAY INTO VIRGINIA VIOLENCE

U.S. authorities are investigating the outbreak of violence in Virginia following a white nationalist rally that killed one person and injured more than 30, presenting President Donald Trump with a major domestic challenge. The violence in the Southern college town of Charlottesville on Saturday was widely condemned, with many politicians and activists on both the left and right also criticizing Trump, a Republican, for waiting too long to address it and when he did so, failing to explicitly condemn the white-supremacist marchers who ignited the melee. On Sunday, however, the White House said in a statement that Trump's remarks on Saturday condemned all forms of violence and bigotry, including neo-Nazi groups and the Ku Klux Klan.

SPECIAL COUNSEL WANTS SENIOR WH OFFICIALS

2 The special counsel investigating whether Russia interfered in the presidential election and possible collusion between Moscow and the Trump campaign wants to speak with current and former senior White House officials, The New York Times reported. Robert Mueller is in talks with the White House about potential interviews, including with former White House chief of staff Reince Priebus, the newspaper said, citing three unnamed sources briefed on the discussions. Representatives for Mueller and the White House did not immediately respond to requests for comment. "Mr. Mueller has asked the White House about specific meetings, who attended them and whether there are any notes, transcripts or documents about them," the newspaper reported, citing two of the people.

NO SURPRISE IF N. KOREA TESTS MISSILE AGAIN

4 The top U.S. intelligence official said he would not be surprised if North Korea tested another missile, given that it had two tests in July, amid rising tensions between the two nations. President Donald Trump has offered fiery warnings for North Korea, saying that the U.S. military was "locked and loaded." North Korean officials in turn have accused the U.S. leader of driving the Korean peninsula to the brink of nuclear war. "I am quite confident that [North Korean leader Kim Jong Un] will continue to try to develop his missile program, so it wouldn't surprise me if there was another missile test," U.S. Central Intelligence Agency Director Mike Pompeo said on "Fox News Sunday." North Korea said on Thursday that plans would be completed by mid-August to fire four intermediate-range missiles to land near Guam.

SAUDI ARABIA SUMMONS TWITTER USERS

5 A group of Twitter users will be indicted in Saudi Arabia on charges of harming public order for threatening the "safety and moderate ideology of society" through extremism, according to a statement on state news agency SPA. The country's chief prosecutor summoned the Twitter users on Sunday, the statement said, without naming them or specifying how many were accused. A spokesman for the Ministry of Culture and Information had earlier tweeted that a radical Sunni cleric, Ali al-Rabieei, had been referred to a "publication crimes" committee for unspecified violations. Ministry officials did not respond to requests for comment on whether Rabieei was among the group.

After criticism, White House says Trump condemns KKK, neo-Nazis

The Charlottesville violence is the latest clash between supporters of the far right and the president's opponents.

President Donald Trump's remarks condemning violence at a white nationalist rally were meant to include the Ku Klux Klan and neo-Nazi groups, the White House insisted on Sunday, a day after he was criticized across the political spectrum for not explicitly denouncing white supremacists.

U.S. authorities are investigating the outbreak of violence in Virginia, which has put new pressure on the Trump administration to take an unequivocal stand against that segment of his political base. Some rightists have claimed allegiance to Trump, a Republican.

Heather Heyer, 32, was killed and 19 others were injured, five critically, on Saturday when a man plowed a car into a crowd of people protesting the white nationalist rally in the southern college town of Charlottesville. Another 15 people were injured after rival groups fought pitched battles using their fists, rocks and pepper spray in the streets.

Democrats and Republicans criticized Trump for waiting too long to address the violence and when he did so, failing to explicitly condemn the white-supremacist marchers who ignited the melee.

On Sunday, however, the White House said: "The president said very strongly in his statement yesterday that he condemns all forms of violence, bigotry, and hatred, and of course that includes white supremacists, KKK, neo-Nazi and all extremist groups."

The statement was emailed to reporters and was attributed to an unidentified "White House spokesperson."

On Saturday, Trump had said that "many sides" were involved in Charlottesville. "We condemn, in the strongest possible terms, this egregious display of hatred, bigotry and violence on many sides," he said.

On Sunday TV shows, Charlottesville Mayor Mike Signer, a Democrat, said the police response was adequate with nearly 1,000 law enforcement personnel assembled. Signer blamed Trump for the violence, starting with his 2016 campaign.

"Look at the campaign he ran … there is two words that need to be said over and over again, domestic terrorism and white supremacy," Signer said on CNN's "State of the Nation."

Across the United States, events were planned on Sunday to "stand in solidarity with Charlottesville … honor all those under attack by congregating against hate" a loose coalition of civil society groups said in postings on social media.

Virginia police have not yet provided a motive for a man who rammed a car into the crowd, but U.S. prosecutors and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have opened a civil rights investigation, an FBI field office said. REUTERS

10 of the most shocking celebrity breakups

Ranking this year's breakups — so far. Because breakups are the new black. RACHAEL VAUGHAN CLEMMONS

We're only eight months into 2017, but the breakups are piling up. While this year has given its all to the likes of Beyonce and Jay-Z, some couples haven't been so lucky. Here are all the top 10 major breakups of 2017 so far, from the typically obvious to the totally unexpected.

Amber Heard and Elon Musk

This pair called it quits in early August and sources say it ultimately came down to timing. Mm-hm, OK. Methinks it may have been a rebound situation — Heard had split from Johnny Depp, husband of 15-months; and Musk was coming off of his second divorce from his second wife. You know what they say about rebounds — they mostly never last.

Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner

These two weren't so much a matter of "if" but "when" given all the relationship and personal drama. They first separated in 2015; then he maybe cheated with the nanny; then they called off the divorce; then Affleck completed treatment for alcohol addiction; then they decided to finally nip the thing in the bud in April. That's a lot!

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Blac Chyna and Rob Kardashian

News of Chyna and Kardashian's final breakup came via a very intense Instagram meltdown, thanks to the latter. He posted Chyna's nudes and followed up with a slew of accusations — from Chyna's alleged promiscuity to rampant drug use. She slammed him for breaking revenge porn laws. Very intense! Thankfully, they've decided to take care of the rest of their issues behind closed doors.

Katy Perry and Orlando Bloom

When two thirsty people come together in a romantic union, you figure either they're going to break up immediately, or they will continually find strength from each other's quest for all-encompassing fame. These two surprisingly ended up being the former.

Scarlett Johansson and Romain Dauriac

According to an interview she gave in the March/April issue of Playboy, Johansson decided she no longer believed in monogamy some time ago. While she was still married. The "Rough Night" star split from her husband of over two years, Romain Dauriac, early this year. Now she's apparently making out with Colin Jost from SNL.

Janet Jackson and Wissam al Mana

The romantic in me wanted these two to be together forever. But getting married and then getting divorced is kind of Jackson's thing — she's not a woman who can be pinned down. Which is probably why the pair split shortly after the birth of their very cute son, Eissa. Aw, man.

Casey Affleck and Summer Phoenix

Was it that allegation of sexual harassment? Or just that Summer Phoenix wasn't into Casey Affleck's beard during his Oscar win? Nobody will ever know, but the two announced their plans for divorce in early August. At least he'll always have that Oscar.

Carmelo and Lala Anthony

Carmelo and Lala have been together for a long time. But all of a sudden, the two were separated, and Carmelo was plagued with rumors of infidelity and impregnating a woman that was definitely not Lala. Yikes. It's chill though — he's still posting thirsty pictures of her on his Instagram.

Jesse Williams and Aryn Drake-Lee

Jesse Williams was previously celebrated for having a non-famous wife, but then he turned around and divorced from her and started dating Minka Kelly. Take that for what it's worth.

Anna Faris and Chris Pratt

Anna Faris and Chris Pratt, the celebrated "normal" celebrity couple, announced their separation last week and it was a real bummer. The couple has been married for eight years and have a 4-year-old son, Jack. There are a lot of rumors about what could have caused their split, but one thing is for sure: the love is probably dead, right?

Small talk with Aubrey Plaza

A lightning round with the delightful "Ingrid Goes West" star.

RACHAEL VAUGHAN CLEMMONS
@rachaelclemz
rachael.clemmons@metro.us

When we chatted with Aubrey Plaza for her latest effort — the very dark, very funny and very genuine "Ingrid Goes West" — we also asked her a lightning round of questions that covered everything from witchcraft (of course) to avocado toast. Here's what the very funny, very warm actress had to say about that and everything else.

Do you ever get mistaken for Drake since you both have the same first name?
Every day of my life.

Lana del Rey cast a spell on Donald Trump. Did you also?
Yes. 100%.

Do you even like avocado toast?
Yes, I had it for lunch today. They have it on the menu here. Totally random coincidence.

Is it a coincidence?
I don't know. Nothing is real.

Instagram or Twitter?
Instagram.

Speaking of Instagram, who is your #WCW?
Catherine Keener. Just been thinking about her a bit recently.

TV or movies?
Movies.

Do you have a favorite comedian?
Well Louis C. K. is always my favorite. Yeah. But I've been getting into Gil Azeri's Snapchat. Have you seen that? I think they're making a show out of it now because it's so funny.

If you weren't an actor what would you be?
I would be a witch? No. I would be a horseback-riding instructor. But I don't know how to ride a horse.

Sorry, I'm getting really distracted by this bagpipe playing outside.
That would be cool. OK, I'd be a bagpipe player.

Social: media good or bad?
Bad.

What's your favorite curse word?
F—k. Which I said 10 times on f—king "Fallon" by accident. Which is a thing I do when I'm nervous. Say f—k.

Favorite cocktail?
Ooh. I would probably have to go with an old fashioned. I'm a whiskey, bourbon kind of girl.

Favorite New York restaurant?
For nostalgic reasons Veselka, because I used to live right there and it's comforting. Russ and Daughters. Any Mario Batali restaurant is OK for me too.

OK, that's it.
That's it? So, you're not going to ask me anything controversial?

Uh, what are your thoughts on Chris Pratt and Anna Faris?
Oh. No.

Uncollege hopes to teach students "how to learn." ISTOCK

When college isn't the only route to success

UnCollege's 9-month gap year initiative takes students out of the classroom and into the real world.

SARA FEINSTEIN
@SaraBFeinstein
sara.feinstein@metro.us

When Daniel Moriarty began college last fall, he was already one step ahead of most of his peers. At just 18 year old, he had already answered the nagging question: What do you really want to do with your life?

"I was convinced that I wanted to be an architect," he recalls. "I was so sure about it. It was something I had thought about since the 6th grade."

With a clear path in his mind, he enrolled at the New York Institute of Technology in Manhattan and began taking the required classes for a major in architectural design. Then, things started to change.

"I was learning about the field in the classroom every single day, swamped with work and all of a sudden, I started to grow distant from something I once had so much passion for," he explains. "I started to almost hate architecture."

It was that epiphany that led him to UnCollege. Designed to give students a chance to direct their own learning experience, rather than be confined by the parameters of their syllabus, the nine-month gap year program begins with a detour to another country.

And while tuition isn't cheap — the entire program costs $19,000 — the company believes that their end goal makes the price tag entirely worth it.

"We want to help students start thinking about who they are as people and what particular passions they want to pursue," explains UnCollege's CEO Charles Taibi.

"We want them to have an experience that's quite outside their comfort zone. It's really about reflection and taking a step out of what was a very hyper-structured lifestyle in high school."

For Moriarty, that meant packing his luggage and going to Brazil to spend 10 weeks volunteering with a local NGO.

He then traveled back to UnCollege's headquarters in San Francisco to start learning the basics of adulting as part of the program's "launch phase."

"It was almost like the street-smarts for businesses stage. I learned the things I couldn't really get from a textbook."

During the 10-week duration, Moriarty learned how to network, cold email, interview and establish an effective personal brand. All of that helped him to secure an internship at the co-working space, Covo.

But the internship — the third and final stage of the program — wasn't the end for him. His supervisor eventually offered him a position opening up their second location in St. Louis, Missouri. And he didn't hesitate to accept.

"I figured I might as well take advantage of this time while I can," explains Moriarty.

"While all of my friends are still in college, this is the time where I can fall, trip and mess up and then pick myself back up and experiment with what I want to do. I've still got a lot to learn."

Write a LinkedIn profile summary that will get you hired

You should think of your LinkedIn summary as your digital first impression. ISTOCK

It's all about selling yourself — strategically.

SARA FEINSTEIN
@SaraBFeinstein
sara.feinstein@metro.us

In today's digital age, creating a strong LinkedIn profile is crucial. And while that certainly involves uploading a stunning professional headshot and writing up a captivating headline, the truth is, without a strong career summary, the chances of a hiring manager reading any further are slim to none.

So how do you write a summary that will entice recruiters to pick up the phone to call you in for an interview? We spoke with branding expert and founder of LinkedIn-Makeover.com Donna Serdula to find out:

Don't be boring

Rather than spitting out resume jargon like "results-driven, goal oriented professional commanding over 15 years of progressive leadership success," Serdula suggests thinking of your summary as a chance to tell your professional story. "An easy way to get started is to imagine you are explaining what you do for a living to a small child," says the LinkedIn professional. That means shortening your role down to a few core concepts, eliminating words like "contextualize," and "paradigm" and instead focusing on who you are.

Ask yourself: what drew me to this industry? What am I most passionate about accomplishing? and what quotes or concepts guide me through my career? Then incorporate those answers into an authentic first-person narrative, she says.

"Hiring managers are going through profile after profile — if you put a little bit of effort into this, and let the summary act as the human voice of your story, you'll be surprised that the phone will start to ring."

Use strong keywords

Job recruiters view LinkedIn as a database of potential candidates, says Serdula. In other words, they're constantly typing in keywords with the hopes of finding a candidate who is "the perfect match." To make sure that your profile pops up on their screen use strong keywords in your summary.

And that doesn't mean simply plugging in terms like "motivated," "professional" and "problem-solver." Use targeted descriptions that align closely with the job you're looking for. If you're hoping to find a position as an IT specialist, incorporate terms like "database administration," and "content development" — essentially, words that clearly outline your skills in the field.

Her advice for coming up with these targeted keywords: Look up a job description for a position you want, and include some of the phrases listed under "requirements" in your summary. Just make sure you don't overdo it. "Five to 10 words is ideal," says Serdula. "You want to weave them organically into your narrative. By simply listing them ad nauseam, you're just going to turn people off."

Break it up

Hiring managers are going through hundreds of profiles each day — the last thing they want to do is have to read through your long-winded dissertation. To make their jobs easier, break up your summary into digestible chunks. "After every second or third sentence, hit enter so you have some blank space. It'll make it easier to read and far less intimidating."

You can even copy and paste a few symbols to spotlight specific career accomplishments.

At the end of the day, you want whoever is viewing your profile to read your summary from start to all the way to the end.

FANTASY FOOTBALL DRAFT TARGETS AND AVOIDS

A look at the players to target and players to avoid in your upcoming fantasy draft.

BILL DUBIEL

Bill Dubiel is a fantasy football expert and lead NFL columnist for Rotoballer.com.

New Ravens receiver Jeremy Maclin should have a monster fantasy year. GETTY IMAGES

Maclin the man

Jeremy Maclin is poised to lead the Ravens in targets this year after coming over from Kansas City, which could be a very profitable position in 2017. The Ravens led the NFL in pass attempts in 2016, averaging more than 42 a game. While it's true that Mike Wallace and Breshad Perriman will stretch the field for the Ravens, Maclin is a lock to be the primary slot receiver. He is coming off a disappointing campaign in Kansas City, but it was revealed that he played last season with a torn groin, which would certainly explain why he lost a step. Given his role and full health, Maclin will be an every-week WR3 with upside for more.

Unleash the freak

Tyreek Hill lit up the fantasy landscape in 2016 with 12 all-purpose touchdowns, but was especially impressive returning kicks. The Chiefs have now announced that Hill will be giving up a large part of his duties as a kick returner, and for good reason. The dynamic sophomore is now the clear-cut WR1 in the Kansas City offense, and all reports out of Chiefs camp are that Hill and Alex Smith have a ton of chemistry. He really only has Travis Kelce to compete for targets with, and while expecting another 12 touchdowns might be optimistic, you can reasonably expect Hill to catch at least 75 passes in 2017. He could be a steal in the fifth round, and should be all over your fantasy radar.

Abdullah not alone

Ameer Abdullah is certainly multi-talented, but to me he is more of a "jack of all trades, master of none" coming into 2017. The Lions do not seem ready to feature Abdullah despite some reports to the contrary, and it's hard to trust a running back who is part of a committee to return the value you want for a player with his ADP (fifth/sixth round). Zach Zenner is still going to take many short-yardage carries, particularly in the red zone, and Theo Riddick has proven himself to be a go-to, pass-catching third-down back. You can let someone else deal with the headache that will be Abdullah in 2017, and target someone with much higher potential.

Sleepers

Robby Anderson, WR, NYJ — With Quincy Enunwa out for the foreseeable future with a bulging disc in his neck, Anderson is the WR1 by default in New York. It's not going to be a productive role given the QB situation, but he's worth a flier late in your draft.

Jesse James, TE, PIT — Ben Roethlisberger has been working directly with James to improve chemistry in the red zone. James could be a cheap source of touchdowns.

Makeup Monday

Brock Holt and the Red Sox will look to continue to stay hot against the Indians in a makeup game Monday (6:10 p.m., NESN) at Fenway. Doug Fister will get the ball for the Sox. GETTY IMAGES

Couples Are Raving Over New Sex Cream

Find out why couples across the country are raving about a new invention called Sensum

Meet the Doctor that's fixing sexual problems in whole new way. Specialist, Dr. James L. Yeager's new cream triples men's penile sensitivity while stimulating their partner like nothing we've seen before.

By Steven Wuzubia
Health Correspondent

Clearwater, Florida – If you are a man, over the age of 40, who struggles with achieving and maintaining a firm erection or has difficulty reaching climax - then you may be in luck!

For a limited time, a breakthrough new invention is being made available to a lucky few who want to experience what's it's like to have double, even triple the penile sensitivity.

Meet Specialist, Dr. James L. Yeager. He is changing sexual medicine as we know it.

AMERICA'S "SEX DOCTOR" TO THE RESCUE

According to Dr. Yeager, you may suffer from Reduced Penile Sensitivity (RPS). This can cause loss of confidence, frustration, even depression and anxiety.

"Many men do not feel comfortable telling even their doctor about trouble with erections, and a lack of feeling and pleasure during intercourse."

After all, the formula for great sex is simple...

The more penile feeling you have, the more aroused you get, which provokes a firm and lasting erection and a full and satisfying orgasm whenever you want. Bottom line: if you don't have enough "feeling" in your penis, it's impossible to get an erection.

You're not alone. Reduced Penile Sensitivity (RPS) is estimated to strike over 500 million men on a worldwide basis. The condition is commonly associated with aging, diabetes, circumcision, certain surgeries and prescription drugs.

ED pills like Viagra, Cialis and natural pills work for many, but men with RPS often end up taking more than directed in the hope of increasing their penile sensitivity, and even then they don't work well enough.

Let's face it. The inability or long wait to reach orgasm is bad enough. But failure to achieve a firm erection is devastating! It's one of the leading causes of relationship problems. And avoiding sex often leads to failed marriage. It's a horrible problem.

RESTORE SENSITIVITY, ENJOY SEX AGAIN

Dr. James Yeager saw firsthand the suffering of his patients. "It's not their fault. They've done nothing wrong. And they are not any less of a man." Yet he wondered why modern medicine was failing in its mission to provide these men lasting relief.

As a result, he spent long sleepless nights locked up in his lab ... researching every study he could get his hands on regarding penis sensitivity and came up with a cream that changed sexual medicine as we know it.

His biggest discovery? A super-nutrient called Cinnamaldehyde. This special ingredient activates the TRPA1 receptor (IC50 = 9.5μM) in your body. It increases the reaction of sensory neurons to stimuli such as warmth, cold and touch. This activation results in more sensitivity of the penis and a more pleasurable sensation.

Dr. Yeager made this super-nutrient the core of a revolutionary new cream called SENSUM+® which promises to give you what no pill can... incredible, long- lasting sensation, even from the slightest touch.

"Like Teenagers Again!"

"This has caused our sex life to be like we are teenagers again! My wife and I are both much happier and more satisfied. A real life-changer! I am so glad for Dr. Yeager's invention to fix this problem without dangerous prescription drugs."

- Robert H., West Palm Beach, FL

HOW IT WORKS

SENSUM+® is a blend of essential oils and natural botanicals that can double, even triple your overall penile sensitivity. It's like removing your leather gloves -- and feeling your lover with your bare fingers again! So even men who've had little feeling in their penis are suddenly able to exercise sexual power over women again. Without worry... anxiety... or a second of doubt.

The word is getting out. "Even men without E.D. problems are buying up more than we can produce", says Dr. Yeager.

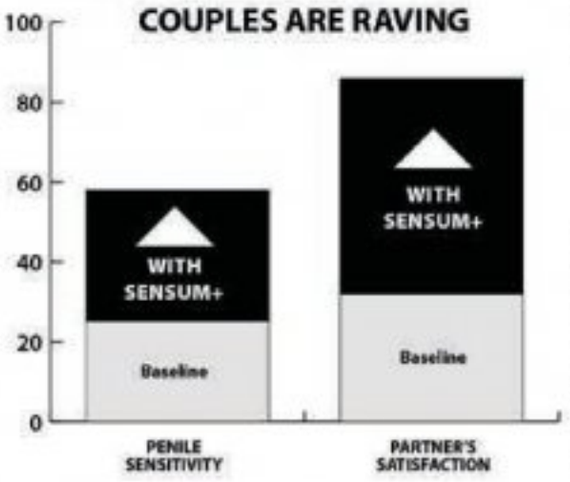
Dr. Yeager's SENSUM+® triples sexual satisfaction for men by increasing "penile sensitivity"

CLINICALLY PROVEN

The clinically-proven nutrients in SENSUM+® help you get and keep a hard erection very easily, and also let you climax when you want to.

For example, Joe Romas, 52, from Oakland, was frustrated he had little penile sensation during sex. This made it take too long to ejaculate. He had nearly given up until he discovered SENSUM+® cream. Within one week of starting he reported, "I now have my old feeling and pleasure back. Sex is fun again and feels great. My wife and I are much happier now."

COUPLES ARE RAVING



SENSITIVITY AND SATISFACTION DOUBLED, TRIPLED

SENSUM+® is clinically proven to end the most common male sexual problems fast and effectively. The result of two clinical studies on men, both circumcised and not, show SENSUM+® more than doubled penis sensitivity and more than tripled sexual satisfaction. And what's more is that their partners enjoyed sex so much more when they used the cream - nearly 300% increase in sexual satisfaction. Couples are raving.

PRIVACY GUARANTEED

SENSUM+® is patent-pending and is equally effective for both circumcised and non-circumcised men. No side effects or medicine interactions have been reported.

The sooner you start using this cream, the sooner you can have more feeling in your penis again to get and keep a hard erection and enjoy sex more than ever.

SENSUM+® is NOT sold in stores. No prescription or doctor visit is required. Your product will be delivered discretely in a plain unmarked package so your privacy and confidentiality is assured.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER

This is the first official public release of SENSUM+® in Massachusetts. Only a limited supply of SENSUM+® is currently available in your region. The manufacturer, Innovus Pharmaceuticals, is offering a special introductory discount to the first 100 Massachusetts residents who place an order today.

This special discount will be available starting today at 7:00am. First come, first served. A special phone hotline has been set up to take advantage of this ordering opportunity. The Special TOLL-FREE Hotline number is 1-800-861-8457 and will be open 24-hours a day.

Consumers who miss out on this exclusive opportunity will be added to our wait list. However, you may need to wait for weeks until more SENSUM+® is available. The maker advises your best chance is to call 1-800-861-8457 immediately.

Aries Take care of business. Try not to overreact to intense personal situations. If you let your emotions affect your work, you will not live up to your professional standards.

Taurus An emotional situation regarding a child, loved one or friend will leave you feeling annoyed or frustrated. Don't let anger take charge when you need to stay calm.

Gemini Find out what's really going on before you decide to point fingers at someone who may be an innocent victim. Honesty and integrity will be tested. Observe and gather facts.

Cancer Do what works best for you. A creative endeavor will calm your nerves. Make relationships a priority. Nurture what you have to gain respect and emotional support.

Leo Choose practicality over impulsiveness. Change can be good, but only if it's carefully considered. Don't let your emotions deter you from finishing a job.

Virgo Share your opinions, but don't force others to do things your way. Acceptance and cooperation will help you discover options you haven't thought of or considered.

Libra Emotionally fueled spending won't bring you the satisfaction and happiness you desire. Look inward and make mental, physical and financial decisions.

Scorpio Creative pursuits will motivate you to participate in an event that will bring you in contact with unique people. Engage in discussions that promote productivity.

Sagittarius Take care of any responsibilities quickly so you can move on to more pleasurable pastimes. Travel, entertainment and socializing are featured.

Capricorn Set a budget before you begin to make changes at home. Overreacting to a situation you face with a partner will not solve the problem.

Aquarius Think before you act. There will be plenty of emotional outpourings from those who oppose your opinions or plans. Listen to sound advice.

Pisces Question your current relationships and professional position. Consider other ways to use your skills that will generate greater income. EUGENIA LAST
